

OREGON'S NEWEST FIRE DISTRICT

ABOUT ROW RIVER OREGON

The Row River Rural Fire Protection District serves the unincorporated rural communities of Disston, Culp Creek, and Dorena in South Lane County, Oregon.

The valley attracts 250,000 annual visitors to the Row River Trail and a share of the 750,000 exploring the Umpqua National Forest.

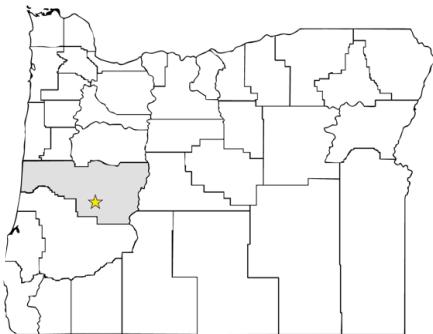

Home to Dorena Reservoir, the Row River feeds the Coast Fork Willamette Watershed, supplying water to over 10,000 Cottage Grove residents and reaching cities including Eugene, Salem, and Portland.

Key Facts:

Extreme Hazard Rating
20-mile narrow valley
with a single access road

Population:

1,200 residents,
2 schools,
2 churches

Community Initiated
District

